

About activities of laboratory in thermometry of the NSC “Institute of metrology”

Svitlana Fil, researcher at the NSC “Institute of metrology”, secretary of TC 1.10 COOMET

In a short report about activities of laboratory in thermometry, the main achievements of the NSC “Institute of metrology” will be mentioned. National standards will be presented, comparisons in which they took part, the degree of equivalence of standards based on conducted comparisons will be listed. The perspectives for improving the standards of the NSC “Institute of metrology” in the field of thermometry will be presented.